It has come to my attention that you are in the process of accessing The Porky Pint's licencing and I want to bring to your attention my own opinion, as a local resident.

The Porky Pint is one of the only decent pubs in Billingham for quality food and alcohol with a great atmosphere. It's family, dog friendly and we've always been made to feel more than welcome every time we've been in. It's one of the first places we think of to go to when we want to eat out, and the fact that it's local and run by local people only makes it more of a draw for us. To revoke it's licence would be a blow not only to us as a family but also to the community.

If you want any further input from myself, than do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you.

Kind regards,

Sara Garry

It would be disgraceful to take away the license of the porky pint based on the fact that he refused to comply with coronavirus regulations. One of our inalienable rights is the right to work and to earn a living. Therefore he should not have his license revoked for standing up for his rights. To take away his license is an assault on all our freedoms and is yet another step we have taken in becoming a fascist dystopian society. Do not take away his livelihood and the livelihoods of those that rely on the pub to keep a roof over their heads. The economic situation makes this more vital than ever.

It's a lovely friendly pub and an absolute asset to the local area where you can nip and have quality food and beverages on your doorstep

Hi

I am writing in reference to the 'licence review' of the Porky Pint. Being a local resident, the pub has been a regular meeting place for us since it opened 5 years ago.

I am hoping that the good reputation and high standard of service offered by this business will give a positive view to those that will be undertaking this review.

As well as the excellent reputation, the Porky Pink has offered employment to many local people of Billingham and current plans of expansion will ensure further jobs at a time when 'every job counts' during this time of uncertainty and financial difficulties for many local families.

'Cheers' to a favourable result.

Kind regards

Hello,

To whom it may concern. I am extremely alarmed that you are considering removing the premise licence from the Porky Pint.

I am a regular and understand the issue as the owner opening during lock down.

I do not understand at all why you would punish the community and people who have done nothing wrong at all in the staff over this by removing the premise licence.

It almost feels personal and a massive over reach of power when there are fines and other punishments available.

The owner should lose his personal licence that way he gets punished and we don't.

It is one of the nicest pubs in the area. Please don't be petty and vindictive over this. The young people who work there need their jobs and the community wants the pub they have become used to.

To whom it may concern,

The Porky pint In Billingham is a fantastic local pub with friendly staff, great food & fantastic service.

This small pub employs local residents & is a life line to some people.

It is a great venue with a great little beer garden for families & residents to enjoy food & drink.

Prior to lockdown they would have local musicians which would always attract a crowd to have an enjoyable night.

The food is amazing & a great eatery for Sunday lunches with good quality food.

I feel it would be an awful shame to lose the porky pint & feel it would be putting people out of work in an already difficult time.

On my occasional visits from London to visit family and my old home town, Billingham, I have loved visiting the excellent little Porky Pint.

With its warm and cosy atmosphere, plus the top class food and drink, it is just what the town has needed, especially in an area which is ripe for development and in a community which needs all the help it can get from the managing Local Authorities. Ideal too for someone like me who is now retired and prefers the quiet and intimacy of a fine pub like this.

I offer, therefore, my full support for the renewal of the pub's Premises Licence, perhaps even some further financial investment into this area of Old Billingham where it is badly needed.

Good Morning,

I am writing in regards to the forthcoming licence review for the Porky Pint, Mill Lane, Billingham.

I would like to place on record that as a customer I have been to this little bar many times since its day of opening. I have never once witnessed any trouble or a breach of their licence conditions. This bar is an example of how many small bars should be run. It is unique and caters for a certain type of customer usually of middle age who like to go to a local establishment to socialise and relax without fear of any trouble. The staff are always very professional. This business provides employment to local residents at a time when employment continues to fall due to the recent covid pandemic.

I think it would be a travesty to revoke this licence and I totally support it in retaining it.

Yours Sincerely

I'm writing in support of the Porky Pint and the wonderful service the establishment has provided to the community during what has been an incredibly difficult time for many people.

They have welcomed those of us with vulnerabilities into their establishment, made us feel at home, and allowed us to relax and meet with like-minded people, at a time when we were being forbidden from meeting by central government, a government who have long since stopped caring about mental health. The suicide rate for the last twelve months is more than 200 times the normal rate, and I fear that many of the Porky Pint vulnerable clients could have been amongst that number of it weren't for the the warm welcome and relaxed atmosphere they provided for us to meet. Mental health must always be seen as a priority, alongside whatever other health concerns there are, but this is an area that has been sorely ignored by the current powers-that-be.

I implore you to allow the Porky Pint to continue trading, and to commend the establishment for being such a shining beacon within the community.

Licensing,

Id like my comments known that think the punishment of the Porky Pint in Billingham is getting way pit of hand and a huge waste of tax payers money and resources.

The day they opened was in a natuonal protest to Covid and once you take away a persons right to protest then you are living in a dictatorship, are you dictators? Or will you help a business that have broken some guidelines. I know which one i would be.

My own opinion of the licensing department being like a micky mouse club is totally irrelavent to this but hopefully someone will see sense and not take any further actuoan against the pub or the owner.

I urge you not to waste any further time playing covid cops and put the time and effort to stop the boozers with the real trouble and srugs problems.

I understand this is under review and this is the place to send my comment on this.

I think it's a little ridiculous that this is under review, I know of other places, even down the same street that have been warned about being open under restrictions. But have they had anything pushed onto them that may hold their business under threat? No is the answer you're looking for.

As much as I may feel what was done was wrong, having been fined, that should be the end of that, what's done is done. To take it further, and risk closing the business, well that's just outright ridiculous.

I hope you are not willing to basically close down another small business in the area, an area that is starting to actually see a small incline of becoming a nicer area.

I'm not a regular, so it's not like I even know the owner or anyone, I have visited a fair few times a year and it's a great place that's not all hustle and bustle, and is literally down the street.

Others have made this same mistake and been handed warnings and fines, let this be it, the fines been imposed, lesson learned.

Don't close another struggling business down from this rubbish past year, don't add more people onto the job seekers list, and if the fine is imposed, take this no further.

Living down the street, having wandered past regularly each week to the car part shop and other shops, I can't say I have once noticed it was actually open, plus there are houses opposite. They would have reported it. I could only say maybe this was a one off.

I know when your enforcement officers were down there and I know others warned, I highly suspect this was not a report from a resident and that it was a fluke that they came across it.

Do the right thing, don't make people lose jobs and the area lose a small socialising area

Hello,

I'm writing to you as a concerned person from the Billingham community, it has recently been brought to my attention your plans of closing a pub that is one I have many fond memories of attending.

It's not always been easy for me moving to Billingham, as a black male I find myself in the minority in Billingham as it's not the most diverse place, with that I have had many incidents in other establishments where I have been made to feel like an outsider, made to feel unwelcome and at times made to feel very uncomfortable. Therefore when an establishment comes along that makes me feel welcome and makes me feel wanted it's very upsetting to hear that my local council are considering closing it down due to one incident.

I have been attending the Porky Pint now for 3 years and have found the staff to be what you'd expect from you local, welcoming, friendly and of course professional. I'm unsure what you have to gain by closing a bar with so much potential to add value to this town but I'd ask that you reconsider.

The Porky is a place I'd like to continue to visit and a place I'd like to take my friends to when they come and visit.

If you could please take into consideration my email when making your final decision on The Porky Pint it would be much appreciated.

I feel I must write to you to confirm that The Porky Pint Pub must retain its license due to the community involvement, position of the premises and how fantastic the previous and new owners offer superb top notch drinks and food to a wide mix of clientele.

I often use the pub, as several others do, to meet business associates involved in local pharmaceutical and chemical plants for lunch, due to its proximity to all local businesses. I also use the pub for recreational reasons and love the community feel in the place. It's right next door to some old people's homes and you often get family gatherings which is typical of the welcoming and happy environment the owners offer.

To close this premises would be a huge backwards step for the local community.

Good afternoon,

I hope this email finds you well. I'm writing in regards to the Porky Pint Public House. This is my local and is a Quiet pub. Nice for a quiet drink, no rowdy groups. It's a civilised establishment for locals, couples, families etc. I'm not aware of, or have I ever witnessed any trouble, fights etc from or the surrounding area of this pub. It's been my local for a long time, it's out of the way of the main pubs/village and for that reason keeps the crowds away. Bar staff are friendly and easy going, the pub itself has a great ambience. It's just a quiet, no drama, pleasure of an escape and a 'secret' hideaway for the hard working, tax paying, average person who just wants a quiet drink and a bit of time out.

Thank you for reading.
